

We need your help

Dear Friend of the Library,

The Sinclairville Free Library is fortunate to have many supporters like you, who value your community and the services the library provides. We know that everyone continues to deal with the effects of the pandemic, and the library is working hard to meet the changing needs of our patrons. This year the library has again not been able to participate in all its normal fund-raising activities. Please consider a gift this year to our library's annual appeal to help us continue to provide the library services our community relies on.

Your gifts help to strengthen the bonds the library develops within this community; between parents and children who read together, book club members who review together, preschoolers who play and learn together, writers who share together, quilters who sew together, crafters who create together, and more. The library provides summer reading for children, a place for teens, adult cultural programs, free internet access, and thousands of books and videos.

There are no other resources in the community quite like the library. Anyone can belong, and everyone can help. As the library costs increase, your contributions become ever more important.
